New Year's Greetings Fly Around Earth

By HENRIETTA T. LEITH Associated Press Writer

Fireworks burst over the Berlin wall, Premier Khrushchev raised a toast in the Kremlin, Italians tossed crockery out windows and President Johnson danced as the world greeted 1964.

The holiday was observed with a mixture of revelry and tradition, and with renewed hope for peace and unity.

President Johnson in a New Year's statement called on Americans to give thanks "for the providence and for the blessings that are ours."

Japan's Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda sent greetings to Soviet Premier Khrushchev hoping for "further efforts in 1964 toward realization of world peace and security."

There were a few jarring notes.

French President Charles de Gaulle spoke of building thermonuclear armament, and Chinese Nationalist President Chiang Kai-shek spoke of "military and political moves" to regain China's mainland from the Communists.

A Boston hotel called off its New Year's Eve party because of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

President Johnson party-hopped among four celebrations at Austin, Tex. Midnight found him at a Headline Club party in a hotel. Just before 12 o'clock he waltzed with a woman who asked him to dance. Less than an hour later he was back at his ranch near Johnson City, Tex.

Khrushchev sent Johnson a message expressing hope for further progress in bettering relations between the two countries.

As Khrushchev toasted 1964 at a Kremlin party of some 2,000 of Moscow's elite, he appealed for further easing of world tensions—but said his only difference with China's Communists was on how to bury capitalism.

In Berlin, the Communists in the east lifted a ban on fireworks for the first time since World War II—and in the west a similar ban as usual was ignored.

Colorful flames swept across the wall in both directions as nearly 60,000 West Berliners celebrated with relatives and friends on the east side of the wall through special holiday entry permits.

Throughout Italy, the tradition of throwing out old dishes, jugs, bottles and glasses set up a New Year's Eve clatter and symbolized the world's desire to forget the past and turn to the hope-filled future.

On Paris' Champs Elysees, a horn-blowing salute to 1964 carried out another tradition. Spaniards observed still another by eating 12 grapes at midnight in Madrid's Puerta del Sol Square.

In Buenos Aires tons of ticker tape, pages out of 1963 calendars and shredded newspapers were thrown out of windows.

No Really Bad News This Year-End, But Average Citizen Feels Uneasy

By JAMES MARLOW Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The little guy, any little guy going home this New Year's Eve, felt like a man blowing feathers. He tried to clear his head of a lot of things but they floated back and stuck.

It had been a good year for him, in a way. He had a job, which millions didn't. There hadn't been any war, or even fear of war, at least in this country. Next year looked peaceful, too.

But he felt a little uneasy. He didn't have any illusions about peace in the world. Peace, he knew, was like a blanket on a nest of tigers. Even when they were quiet they were hungry.

That wasn't really what made him uneasy. There had been other New Year's Eves when he went home, just as he was going now, and thinking just about the same thoughts, most always about himself.

Now it wasn't so much about himself. That was the difference. Something outside himself and bigger than himself had troubled and hurt him like a pain ever since that day when President John F. Kennedy was killed.

It had spoiled the taste of life for him a bit. Christmas hadn't been the same for him as any other Christmas. Now New Year's Eve wasn't, either.

A brilliant young man, a father and a president, a good man, for no one could say he wasn't, suddenly dead, shot like a tin can and maybe for just about as much reason.

To this day the little guy didn't know the reason and had never even heard one. Nobody seemed to know. That made everything worse. Even a completely crazy reason would have been more understandable than none.

So far as he knew the president had been killed for nothing. Lee Harvey Oswald had been charged with it but Oswald had been killed, too, before his story could come out and for a reason that also isn't clear.

It made the little guy think about the things he had managed not to think much about as the years went by and he grew older and his children grew up.

It was the things about the world he lived in, the real one, not the little one he inhabited which was pretty much limited to the office and the people on the street where he lived and a few friends.

In the office, on his street, among his friends he had seen spats and spites, some of them very unpleasant.

But the people he knew somehow managed to get along or, when they didn't, they backed away from one another and walked another road, even if it had been made lonelier by a harsh word that could never be withdrawn.

But the little guy knew the big world is overloaded with people — sick, or stupid or stuffed with hate—for whom violence is a form of conversation.

He couldn't help thinking, and this was what gave him the uneasy feeling: if this can happen to a president, what else can happen? He had a greater sense of uncertainty than any he had known in his whole life.

He thought of his wife, his kids, himself, of the kind of world he'd like to live in as he went home this New Year's Eve, hoping life would be the way he wanted but not at all sure any more it ever would be.

Goldwater on Eve of His Declaration

By ROB WOOD

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater has his family at home, his right leg in a cast and the nation on edge for his 55th birthday.

The two-term Arizona senator is surrounded by all his immediate family in this dual Goldwater-New Year's Day celebration.

He is spending the day in his hilltop Phoenix home with one foot propped on a cushion chair, a necessity since an operation to remove a calcium deposit from his right heel.

The nation awaits his announcement two days hence on whether he'll seek the 1964 Republican presidential nomination.

In the Goldwater home for the birthday festivities will be his wife, four children, a son-in-law and a son-in-law soon to be.

Brother Bob Goldwater, a Phoenix department store executive, and his family will make a brief call later today to drop off a present.

With Bob will be the senator's 88-year-old mother, Josephine, who makes a point of never missing a birthday party or New Year's celebration.

Goldwater planned to watch the football bowl games on television. An aide said the senator is especially interested in the Cotton Bowl battle between Texas and Navy.

Barry Morris Goldwater was born on a clear, cold New Year's Day of 1909 in Phoenix, the territory of Arizona. This was the second anniversary of the wedding of his parents, Baron Goldwater, a struggling Phoenix merchant, and Josephine Williams, a nurse who had come to Arizona eight years earlier because of tuberculosis.

It was also on a New Year's Day and a Goldwater birthday that the Republican conservative leader proposed to his wife, the former Peggy Johnson in a crowded telephone booth near the ballroom of the Roberts Hotel in Muncie, Ind.

Goldwater selected the site for his proposal after Peggy had stepped into the booth to telephone 1933 New Year's greetings to her mother in Phoenix.

Strike on N.Y. Subway Is Averted

NEW YORK (AP)—All-night negotiations averted a New Year's Day subway and bus strike that would have paralyzed the city.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner announced the settlement after the Transport Workers Union twice extended its 5 a.m. strike deadline.

The union had insisted it would defy a temporary injunction issued against a strike if agreement on a new contract was not reached.

Wagner called the settlement terms reasonable and said they would allow the city's 15-cent transit fare to be preserved.

The cost of the new pact to the city Transit Authority was estimated at between $38 and $42 million over the two-year period of the contract.

In issuing an injunction against a walkout, State Supreme Court Justice Samuel H. Hofstadter said "the catastrophic consequences of a strike" warranted his intervention.

The order was based on the state's rarely invoked Condon-Wadlin law which prohibits strikes by public employees.

Wreck Fatal to L. R. Woman

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A loaded tractor trailer rig, its brakes gone, slammed into the rear of a sedan at the foot of the Broadway Bridge and caught fire early today, killing Mrs. Francis Daugherty, 29, of North Little Rock.

Lt. Reo Bowman of North Little Rock Police said the heavy rig climbed over the car and officers did not know the car was under it until the fire was put out.

J. C. Coleman, 29, a Negro of Camden, was pulled from the burning wreckage by a cook at a nearby cafe and was not hurt. He was driving for the Hurley Press of Camden and the rig was loaded with catalogs.

The impact shoved the car into the front of a service station. Bowman said Coleman told him he went to stop the truck and could hear air hissing from the brake failure.

Business Is Up, But Not Speculative

By SAM DAWSON Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Like the federal government, businessmen are ready to spend more this year but are resolved to get full value for each dollar spent. And they say the times favor their economy drive.

Or, to put it in balance-sheet language, industrial experts expect more business this year and therefore are ready to spend more to get it. But at the same time they intend to keep a tight rein on their purses and avoid excesses.

Many are reconciled to rising prices on some essential materials. And they say more of this now will have to be passed along, rather than absorbed by their suppliers as in the recent past.

Yet business as the new year starts shows little inclination to beat rising prices by running up stocks on hand. Corporate finance officers contend that new business techniques make this unnecessary.

Of 1,000 purchasing executives queried, in every important area of U.S. industry, 67 per cent told Purchasing Magazine their own company would spend more this year than last for materials and services. But 70 per cent said their sales would be better this year than in 1963.

The implication is that buying in 1964 will continue to be more for immediate use than for future needs. And 62 per cent of the purchasing men foresee their inventories holding this year at the 1963 level.

A buyer of steel notes changing techniques in recent years. "We can depend on the distributor to inventory for us and get the material here when we need it," he says. "His manufacturers do the same for him. The whole cycle from manufacturer to final user has been shortened considerably."

The corporate buyers expect to pay more this year than last for steel and steel products, nonferrous metals, paper, packaging materials, and electrical products.

The profit squeeze is one reason purchasing agents have had to revamp inventory techniques. Top management has stressed cost cutting, including the charges for carrying big stocks on hand. So now many industries live on a much more nearly hand-to-mouth basis than formerly.

If production and sales increase as most business executives now forecast, material stocks will have to be higher to keep more production flowing—but the percentage of inventories to sales will be kept as tight as possible.

Or so the purchasing executives are resolving today.

Pilgrimage to Holy Land Is Historic

By GERALD I. MILLER

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI said today his Holy Land pilgrimage may have an impact for many years to come and that the Vatican Ecumenical Council may end in this new year.

Speaking in Italian from a window of his studio to a crowd of 30,000 gathered at St. Peter's Square, the Pope said there will be two important religious events in 1964.

"Shortly we will start our pilgrimage to the Holy Land," the Pope said. "We will remember you and will pray for God to give you grace."

The other event, the Pope said, is the Ecumenical Council, "which must be conducted to a good end."

The third session of the council will be from mid-September to mid-November. Pope Paul's words indicated he hoped it will be the council's last. But he did not specifically say it will be. The council so far has completed only two decrees with 11 more still to be acted on.

Rumor Shriver as V.-P. Nominee

GARDEN CITY, N. Y. (AP) — Newsday, Long Island newspaper, says President Johnson's choice as now for his vice presidential running mate is Sargent Shriver, a brother-in-law of the late President John F. Kennedy.

Shriver is director of the Peace Corps.

Officials at the holiday White House in Johnson City, Tex., declined comment on the report, contained in a copyright story Tuesday from Johnson City.

SE Asia Is Trouble Spot of New Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Among the world's trouble spots none confronts President Johnson in 1964 with problems more combustible and unpredictable than Southeast Asia.

There were more questions than answers available as the new year began with tightened Communist pressure on the rich, diverse and strategic region with 210 million people.

U.S. experts acknowledge that the Communist guerrilla war in South Viet Nam's delta region has reached serious, but not fatal proportions as the new revolutionary regime headed by Gen. Duong Van Minh struggled to get its feet on the ground.

The big question was whether the military council, backed by massive American aid, could gain the support of the predominantly rural population in time to turn the tide.

There is less talk now of withdrawing two-thirds of the 16,000-man U.S. force from Viet Nam by 1965.

Prince Norodom Sihanouk in neighboring Cambodia apparently considers the battle already lost. He hastened to divest his neutral kingdom of American economic and military support and has threatened to join a formal alliance with Communist China unless West and East join in a pledge to guarantee Cambodia's neutrality.

In Laos, the 1962 neutralization formula worked out at Geneva had produced no magic cure. Under continued pressure from Communist North Viet Nam and Communist China, its tripartite government tugged and pulled among its left, right

Hal Boyle Pays Tribute to John F. Kennedy in This Year-End Message

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — As the new year dawns, the blackboard in my daughter's room looks strangely bare.

It hangs on a wall opposite her bed, and Tracy Ann uses the blackboard as a kind of school away from school. As do many 10-year-olds, she loves to play teacher herself—and the blackboard lends the game the semblance of reality.

One day last November, just before school let out, she and her classmates learned that the President of the United States had been shot.

Tracy Ann hurried home to tell her mother, and they switched on the television set. My daughter went uncontrollably for nearly an hour.

In the crowded days that followed so swiftly she could not get the event out of her mind, any more than grownups could. Sometime during those four tragic days she went alone to her blackboard, picked up a piece of chalk and neatly printed this bulletin:

"In history: John F. Kennedy died Friday, Nov. 22, 1963. Flags to fly at half staff for 30 days in mourning."

A relationship is sometimes best defined by its loss. So only through the death of President Kennedy did the nation come to realize how manifold a meaning he had.

He had become during his short term in authority a symbol of many things. He was a symbol of a dutiful son, a symbol of conscientious leadership, light - heartedly exemplifying that true mark of the champion — "grace under pressure"—and

Snow Blanket Covers Dixie, New Orleans

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Snow such as many Southerners had never seen blanketed the South Wednesday from the Gulf of Mexico to Virginia, paralyzing traffic and communications at many places and causing at least seven deaths.

The snow and sleet storm turned to rain in some sections overnight, adding glazed highways to the already dangerous driving conditions. Numerous highways were closed to traffic.

Almost four inches of snow, the most this century, fell on New Orleans, leading to snowmen in the usually torrid French Quarter and an occasional flying snowball on Canal Street.

Hattiesburg, in southeast Mississippi, had 12 inches of snow and Chatham, in southwest Alabama, reported 10 inches. Both towns are near the Gulf in an area where even a snow flurry is a rarity.

Unequipped to deal with accumulations of snow and slick streets, most larger Southern cities suffered monumental traffic jams. Temporary loss of power and telephone lines was reported throughout the South.

Factories and stores closed early in most cities Tuesday so employees could get home before streets became impassable. Two persons died in Alabama traffic accidents attributed to

1st Nuclear War Heads to Canada

NORTH BAY, Ont. (AP) — The United States made its first delivery of nuclear warheads to Canada Tuesday night under a controversial agreement approved by Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson's Liberal government last summer.

Atomic warheads for 28 anti-aircraft Bomarc missiles were delivered to the Bomarc base seven miles north of this community, the Royal Canadian Air Force announced.

The Bomarc complex at North Bay, 180 miles north of Toronto, was built at a cost of $375 million. About $255 million was contributed by the United States.

Self-Help Is Ultimatum to S. America

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is expected to put a strong new emphasis on Latin-American self-help under the new approach to the Alliance for Progress being developed by the Johnson administration.

Assistant Secretary of State Thomas C. Mann, President Johnson's hand-picked Latin American policy boss, is reported planning to do everything possible to encourage tax and land reforms in the Latin American countries and the creation of stable political and economic conditions necessary to promote an inflow of private capital.

Mann is to be sworn in to his new job Friday. He was most recently ambassador to Mexico and is a career Foreign Service officer.

Along with the position of assistant secretary in charge of Latin-American affairs he has also been designated as a special assistant to Johnson, an assignment which gives him increased authority in dealing with problems involving agencies.

Spa Doctors to Fight Land Sale

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — The Garland County-Hot Springs Medical Society has adopted a resolution opposing a bill in Congress to sell nine tracts of land on which both houses are located.

Dr. H. A. Yates, secretary-treasurer of the society, announced the resolution today and said copies were being sent to Arkansas congressmen and to the secretary of the interior.

The society said such sale would be detrimental to the proper use and administration of the thermal waters.

The bill, which has been introduced in the Senate and House, would abolish the Hot Springs National Park Federal Registration Board and convey land on which the bath houses are located to the city.

3 Killed in New Outbreak on Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—The presidential palace said three Greek Cypriot monks were killed and two wounded in an attack by Turkish Cypriots today on the Orthodox Monastery of the Virgin Mary of Galactoforoussa, halfway between Nicosia and Limassol.

One monk was admitted to the Nicosia General Hospital with gunshot wounds.

The monk said a band of Turkish Cypriots attacked the monastery, 30 miles from Nicosia and started shooting at the 10 monks living there.

Police said they had received reports of the shooting and sent out patrols to investigate.

With communal antagonisms still evident, the troubled island awaited the arrival of 700 additional British troops.

It was officially revealed President - Archbishop Makarios' government has decided to abrogate treaties of guarantee and alliance with Greece and Turkey, two of the three powers which sponsored the independence that Britain granted Cyprus in 1960.

The other was Britain, with which Cyprus remains linked by

Fulbright Stymied by Senate Bloc

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., found himself battling a "gentleman's agreement" Christmas Eve when he tried to get the foreign aid appropriations bill through the Senate and on its way to President Lyndon B. Johnson for signature.

The bill had been approved earlier in the day by the House and its passage in the Senate was almost a certainty.

But, Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., had, with a little pressure, gotten Senate leaders to agree that no business would be transacted in the Senate on Christmas Eve, or on the following Friday.

Reports say Morse threatened to insist on a quorum call on Christmas Eve if the foreign aid bill were called up for action.

If the leadership could not gather 51 Senators for the quorum—and this appeared certain—the Senate would be required to meet Christmas day.

Fulbright and 11 other Senators who had not heard of the agreement appeared in the Senate on Christmas Eve to put the finishing touches on the bill.

When they tried to get action, the acting Senate leaders told them they were duty bound to have a quorum call if the Fulbright party insisted on action on the measure.

Fulbright said he did not see how an absent Senator could object to a unanimous agreement to bring the bill up.

But, the acting leaders said if Morse were present, he would insist on a quorum call, and they were obligated under the agreement to insist on it in his behalf.

Fulbright then tried to get unanimous consent of the Senators present to allow him to have someone cast his vote for him on Dec. 30 since he wouldn't be able to attend the session.

Fulbright even asked for unanimous consent to allow acting Republican leader Thomas Kuchel, R-Calif., to cast the votes of six other Senators when the bill was brought up.

"In absentia?" asked Kuchel. "In absentia," said Fulbright. "If the Senator will not object, we can make history."

But Kuchel said he would have to object to such a request.

The Arkansas Senator then suggested the absence of a quorum to force a calling of the roll, but gave in when Kuchel asked him to withdraw this request.

Kuchel explained that it would be impossible to get the required 51 Senators and a roll call would necessitate a Christmas day session.

With that Fulbright gave up the battle and left the floor, still muttering about the situation.

Next stage, after towers, is stringing 145,000 miles of steel wire—which took three years to make—for the four great suspension cables. "Spinning wheel," top photo, passes 1/5-inch-diameter wire from one anchorage, across saddles in towers, to other anchorage. Wires are bound in 61 subgroups. Total wires: 26,108; weight: 38,000 tons. Wires are then compacted, bottom, into one cable three feet thick, which is itself wrapped in protective wire. From four such cables, 51,000 tons of roadway structure will be suspended.

cies outside the State Department.

It is understood that Mann does not foresee any basic changes in U.S. Latin-American policy with respect either to the alliance or to Cuba.

The basic strategy of trying to isolate Cuba economically and politically from the non-Communist world will be continued.

Economic, social and political reforms have been major goals of the Alliance for Progress aid program since it was launched by the Kennedy administration almost three years ago.

The alliance was set up as a 10-year program with the United States to contribute $10 billion over that period to the development of Latin-American countries.

Under Mann's direction, the alliance program is expected to place less emphasis on the time goal and more emphasis on the work that has to be done from day to day in Latin America to achieve results over the long future.

A special committee of government officials now reviewing the whole U.S. foreign aid program probably will recommend that the alliance be separated from the rest of the aid operation and put completely under Mann's supervision in the State Department. The committee is due to make its recommendations to the President by Jan. 15.

Mann is also planning to start

Johnson Signs Waterwork Measure

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson signed Monday a bill authorizing future work on the Arkansas River program and other water projects.

But he is seriously considering vetoing a $4.4 billion public works appropriations bill which contains $18 million for Arkansas River bank stabilization and $11 million for Arkansas River locks and dams.

The bill Johnson signed ends

a long controversy and permits work on the Arkansas and White river basins to continue. It had been feared that work on them might have to stop for lack of authorization.

The bill the President signed authorizes Army Engineers to spend money already appro-riated.

The appropriation bill provides money that ultimately

Congress will have to authorize spending in another bill.

The authorization bill signed by Johnson permits work to continue on individual projects for two years. Basin authorization increases provided by the bill include $157 million for the Arkansas River and $8 million for the White River. Individual pro-

CROSSETT, Ark. (AP) — James B. Lemen, 21, of Crossett, was killed today in an accident in the chip preparation area at the Georgia-Pacific Corp. Kraft Paper Mill.

Company officials were checking into the cause of death. Police Chief Ivan Barrett said there was no police investigation.

Acquarium Designer

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Keller Breland, president of Animal Behavior Enterprises at Hot Springs, has been selected as a consultant for designing a new $10 million national Fisheries Center and Aquarium in Washington, D.C.

for the Dardanelle Lock and Dam.

The bill Johnson is considering vetoing reportedly is objectionable to him because some features pertaining to the Panama Canal previously have been held to be an invasion of right of the Executive Department.

The section involves a requirement that requests for appropriations be submitted to a congressional committee for approval, rather than to the President.

It was understood that Johnson made known his doubts about the bill in telephone calls Monday to Rep. E. C. Gathings, D-Okla., the House Democratic leader, and to Sen. Clinton B. Anderson, D-N.M.

If Johnson vetoes the bill, Congress would have to pass another bill when it reconvenes in January.

More clear, cold weather is in store for Arkansas.

A slight warming trend this afternoon and another Thursday are not expected to significantly raise temperatures.

The mercury dropped to a frigid nine degrees in Fort Smith Tuesday night. Overnight lows around the state generally were in the high teens and low 20s.

Minimums ranging between 10 and 20 are forecast for tonight.

Today's highs are expected to range between 32 and 42 and Thursday's highs between 35 and 45.

Arkansas missed the snow which now is plaguing areas south and east of us. No precipitation of any kind was reported in Arkansas during the 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m. today.

Commonwealth ties.

In addition to guaranteeing the independence of Cyprus, the treaties signed by Cyprus, Turkey and Greece preclude both a Cypriot union with Greece and partition of Cyprus into Greek and Turkish communities. Turkish Cypriot leaders have called for partition as a solution to communal strife.

A communique said President Makarios cabled all heads of states seeking their moral support in facing "further aggressive actions, intervention or interference by the Turkish government against the Cyprus Republic."

The cable said these included three low-level flights over Nicosia by jets bearing Turkish insignia last week; the movement of a Turkish army contingent from its treaty base to a position on republican territory outside Nicosia; and movements of the Turkish fleet—five submarines, four cruisers and three troopships — which the cable claimed were spotted 18 miles off the island's northern shore.

"In view of these we have decided to abrogate the treaties of guarantee and alliance imposed on the people of Cyprus," it said.

"These undesirable treaties are the source of our anomalous situation. The Cypriot people wish to live in peace without foreign intervention or threats."

"My country is very small and does not possess arms and forces or material means which can match successfully foreign intervention."

The Soviet Union added a new complication to the peacemaking efforts of Britain and other Western nations by announcing Tuesday night it would support the Greek Cypriot government's complaint against Turkey if it comes before the United Nations again.

Soviet Ambassador Pavel Yermoshin delivered a note to Archbishop Makarios, president and Greek Cypriot leader, outlining the Soviet position.

"The Soviet Union condemns any attempt at intervention in the internal affairs of Cyprus under any pretext or any form this may take," the note said.

At an emergency session of the U.N. Security Council in New York last Friday night, Cyprus accused Turkey of hostile naval movements near the Cyprus coast and jet flights over Nicosia, the capital, to incite Turkish Cypriots. Turkey denied the charges. The council adjourned without further action.

In London, the British Defense Ministry announced it will fly 700 additional troops to Cyprus, where it maintains a regular garrison of 10,000 men. Britain bolstered its Cyprus force by 1,000 infantry men and an armored unit last week.

the snow.

Fresh northeasterly winds tore a small boat from its moorings on a marsh land off the southeast Georgia coast, marooned two men and their three sons on the island and then pushed high tides over the island. Two of the boys died from exposure. The others were rescued after more than 30 hours.

In Mobile, Ala., two children died from gas fumes from an unvented stove. In Atlanta, a gas explosion shattered one floor of an apartment building, killing one person and injuring two.

The snowstorm blew northward from the Gulf, reaching Tennessee, the Carolinas, and Virginia before threatening the nation's capital with several inches of snow.

More than six inches fell in Asheville, N.C., more than seven at Halleysville in north Alabama, and six inches in much of Tennessee. The Great Smoky Mountains in Tennessee were expected to get up to 14 inches before the snow ended.

Thailand remained calm but wary in the eye of the storm. Its new government placed more reliance on a U.S. defense commitment under the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization pact.

Beset by internal troubles, Burma borrowed deeper in its isolation from the West.

In another corner of Southeast Asia, Indonesia's strident "crush Malaysia" policy was pursued vigorously by President Sukarno. His travels to Manila scheduled for early January signaled a new effort to keep the Philippines aligned in confrontation against Malaysia.

With British help Malaysia's leader Tunku Abdul Rahman expected to hold the new North Borneo states in the federation but if the scale of subversion and border war heightened, the new country vowed to take the case to the United Nations. U.S. diplomats worked hard behind the scenes to avert war and promote a negotiated settlement.

Willis - Murphy

Vows Exchanged
Miss Carolyn Sue Willis, daughter of Mrs. Ray Willis and the late Mr. Willis, became the bride of Willie Lamar Murphy, son of Mrs. Charles Murphy of Marietta, Georgia, and the late Mr. Murphy, in a ceremony in the home of Mrs. Glynn McDonald of Prescott, sister of the bride, on Friday, December 20.

The Rev. M. C. Barham of Blevins officiated at the double-ring ceremony before an altar decorated with greenery and pink roses.

Given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Glynn McDonald of Prescott, the bride wore a street-length dress of white silk organza over taffeta. She also wore a white lace jacket. Her veil of illusion fell from a pearl-earrings and a pearl necklace was her only jewelry. She carried a white bible topped with a bouquet of white carnations centered with a white orchid.

Miss Mary Nell Barham of Blevins was the bride's maid of honor and only attendant. She wore blue silk and had a red carnation corsage.

A 1-c Arthur Willis, brother of the bride, was the best man for the bridegroom.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Willis wore a pale blue frock with black accessories and pinned pink carnations at her shoulder.

A reception followed the exchanged of vows. Red roses caught up points of the scalloped white net cloth which covered the serving table. Red candles also enhanced the table, where the three-tiered wedding cake, holding a miniature bride and groom, was served by Miss Mary Nell Barham. Mrs. Arthur Willis poured the punch.

The couple will be at home in Dallas, where Mr. Murphy is an electrical engineer.

Blackwoods Held Family Reunion

For the first time in about 14 years all eight children of Mrs. Maggie Blackwood were home for Christmas. They had a lovely time together, and there were 23 for dinner including 10 children.

Adults present were: Mrs. Harlon Faulkner, Dallas; Mrs. Elmer May and Mr. and Mrs. Don Blackwood, Homer, La.; Wallace Blackwood, Crossett; Mrs. Joy Foster, Hot Springs; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Blackwood, Camden; Charles "Bo" Blackwood, Arkadelphia; Miss Zina Thompson, Monroe, La.; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Blackwood and Mrs. Maggie Blackwood of Hope.

Christmas Dinner At Roberts Home

On Saturday, December 28 Mrs. Lillian Roberts had a Christmas dinner for her family. Though the date for universal festivities was past, an air of good cheer and happiness remained.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gilbert and two children, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Roberts of Calvert, Tex., and Mr. and Mrs. Hansford Ray of Nashville.

Coming and Going

Mrs. Gilbert Robertson and Marilyn have returned to their home in Dallas after spending several days with Mrs. R. M. Bruner.

Mrs. M. M. McCloughan has returned home from a 2 months visit to New York where she stayed with her son, Merrill E. and family and made acquaintance with her new granddaughter, Mary Beth.

Mr. and Mrs. Jake Jones and daughter, Alexandria, Va., have been the guests of the Jack Lowes at Oakhaven.

Mr. and Mrs. Travis Hunt and family, Dallas, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Dale Hunt.

E. Baker Quits His State Post

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Eugene Baker former deputy secretary of state and administrative aide to former Gov. Francis Cherry resigned Tuesday as an appeals referee with the Employment Security Division. Baker, 67, was honored at an informal ceremony at which talks were made by Gov. Orval E. Faubus and ESD Administrator James L. Bland.

Public Works Bill Signed by Johnson

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Lyndon Johnson signed into law Tuesday the $4.4 billion public works appropriation, insisting all the while, that part of the bill was unconstitutional.

The measure includes $29 million for work on the Arkansas River and, with the water project authorization bill signed Monday, river work on Arkansas is certain to continue.

Johnson said he did not approve of a provision in the public works bill which prohibits the Panama Canal Co. from disposing of any real property without advance approval from congressional committees.

Johnson said four attorney generals of the United States have held that provisions of this nature are unconstitutional. He made it clear that the canal company is to disregard the provision.

But Johnson said in a memorandum to the Secretary of the Army that appropriate committees of Congress should be kept fully informed of disposal of property by the company.

The President had considered vetoing the measure but finally decided to sign it.

The signing Monday of the river projects bill ended a long controversy between the House and the Senate.

It assured continuation of work on the Arkansas and White Rivers in Arkansas. Work on those projects had been threatened with stoppage because of delay caused by the House - Senate argument over the measure.

The bill allows engineers to spend an amount in each month not to exceed the amount spent in the same month of the previous year, a spokesman for the Army Engineers in Little Rock said.

More money is authorized for work in Arkansas than has been appropriated but Congress can appropriate whatever is necessary up to the amount of the appropriation.

Work on the Arkansas projects was authorized to continue for two years.

The bill includes $157 million for work on Arkansas River, $8 million for the White River in Arkansas and Missouri and $404,000 for the Dardanelle Lock and Dam in Arkansas.

Reducing Tablet Is Off Market

NEW YORK (AP) — Drug Research Corp. has agreed to a federal court order banning interstate sale of Regimen weight-reducing tablets.

U.S. Atty. Joseph R. Hoey charged that the tablets were worthless. He said the public paid $16 million for them in the past six years.

President John T. Dandreadis of Drug Research signed a government decree in U.S. District Court, Brooklyn, Tuesday agreeing to accept Judge John R. Bartels injunction.

State's Mineral Output a Record

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas' mineral production set a new record in 1963 it was reported by the Interior Department's Bureau of Mines. The agency said the state's 1963 mineral value was $189.5 million. The previous record was $159.5 million set in 1959.

Miss. spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Blair Shuford and Joe.

Sunday, Miss Kyle Bussey of Grady visited Mrs. Blair Shuford and Joe. He returned home with her to visit relatives in Grady, Pine Bluff, and Little Rock.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. McDowell, Ft. Worth, and Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Alford, Stephens, were house guests this weekend of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Collier, Jr., when they came to see Mrs. J. S. McDowell.

Road Deaths Drop From a Year Ago

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Traffic deaths in the nation during the New Year's holiday normal compared to a non-holiday period.

Highway deaths since the start of the count at 12:01 a.m. local time Tuesday were 65, far below the 104 fatalities reported in the comparative period during last week's Christmas holiday. The New Year's holiday period ends at midnight tonight.

Heavy snow in wide areas in the South created hazardous driving conditions but traffic deaths in most of the storm belt were not heavy.

Traffic fatalities during the 11 months this year averaged about 117 a day, for a total of 39,280, a record for the period. Indications were the 196 death toll will surpass the record total of 40,900 deaths in 1962.

The National Safety Council had estimated that between 140 and 180 persons might lose their lives in traffic mishaps between 6 p.m. New Year's Eve and midnight tonight, a period of 30 hours.

An Associated Press survey for a non-holiday period of 48 hours, from 12:01 a.m. Tuesday, Dec. 10 to 12:01 a.m. Thursday, Dec. 12 showed 170 traffic fatalities.

The last time New Year's fell on a Wednesday, in 1957, there were 169 traffic deaths during the period from 6 p.m. New Year's Eve to midnight of New Year's Day.

During last week's 48-hour Christmas holiday period there were 316 deaths on the highway.

Van Buren Cited for Low Taxes

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Van Buren County will lose its state taxback funds for the second time in three years, the state Assessment Coordination Department said Tuesday.

The county was one of 11 warned last August that its property assessment ratio had dropped below the state - required minimum of 18 per cent of market value.

The department said the other counties brought their ratios up in time to receive their taxback funds. Van Buren County's ratio was certified at 17 per cent.

Assessment Coordination Department Director C. Jack Cato said 5.555 per cent of the taxback funds would be withheld from the county until the ratio is brought up to the required minimum.

The department will recheck assessment levels Aug. 1, he said, and if they are up to the required minimum at that time the funds will be turned over to the county.

Sunny, Warmer on New Years

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The first day of the new year will be warmer and sunny in Arkansas, the Weather Bureau in Little Rock said today.

But New Year's Eve revelers will have to brave temperatures in the teens. No rain or snow was in sight.

Warmer air will move into Arkansas Wednesday, the Weather Bureau said, lifting temperatures to the 40s in the northeast to the low 50s in the southwest.

The warming trend was expected to continue Thursday. Overnight low temperatures today ranged from four degrees at Batesville to generally in the teens elsewhere.

Monday's temperatures ranged from the 20s in the northeast to the 40s in the southwest.

Thinks State Laws Could Be Improved

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus said today Arkansas election laws could be improved by moving the deadline for paying the poll tax closer to the date of an election.

Otherwise, Faubus said, "Arkansas is far ahead of most states in making it possible to vote."

The governor made the remark when asked for comment on a report issued recently by a presidential commission which said that many states make it difficult to vote by stringent registration requirements, brief periods in which the polls are open and other actions.

Faubus said any failure to vote in Arkansas was due to lack of interest. He said he had never heard of anyone being refused permission to pay a poll tax.

But he said he had long felt that some voters were disfranchised by the long lapse between poll tax paying time and elections, particularly the Democratic primary which most politicians believe is the most important election in the state.

The poll tax must be paid by Oct. 1 to qualify the voter for the primary in the following July.

Some people don't get interested in the election until the campaign starts and then it is too late to qualify, Faubus said.

He added that he would favor permitting paying the poll tax up to 30 days before the primary.

He also mentioned the possibility of reopening the poll tax books after the primary election and allowing voters to qualify again up to 30 days before the general election in November.

Faubus said Arkansas' polling hours of from 3 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. are adequate because the state has a law requiring employers to give their employees time off to vote on election days.

Pope Prays for Success in Palenstine

By GERALD I. MILLER

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI began the new year with intense prayer for his forthcoming pilgrimage to the Holy Land.

The Pope started the day with a Mass in his private chapel in the Apostolic Palace.

Vatican sources said that from now until the morning of Jan. 4, when a DC8 jet airliner will fly him to Palestine on the first papal plane trip in history, the pontiff will intensify his daily prayers.

Paul will be the first Pope in the church's 2,000 years to make a pilgrimage to the birthplace of Christ. He has said his pilgrimage will be a journey of offering, search, hope and prayer for peace and Christian unity.

The trip also will provide the setting for the first meeting in five centuries between a pope and the leader of the Orthodox Church.

Vatican sources said Tuesday that Pope Paul will meet twice in the Holy Land with Patriarch Athenagoras of Constantinople, Orthodox spiritual leader.

The meetings will be devoted largely to prayer, a source said. Meeting sites have not been announced, but they are expected to be Jerusalem and Bethlehem.

Execution Date Set for Rapist

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus today set Jan. 24 as execution date for two convicted rapists, one white and one Negro.

The men — Charles Franklin Fields, a 32-year-old white man, and William L. Maxwell, a 24-year-old Negro—are being held on death row at Tucker Prison Farm.

Fields was convicted in connection with an attack on a 30-year-old white woman Jan. 15, 1962, while he was an escapee from the prison farm where he was already serving a life sentence for rape in Marion County.

Fields also killed a man during the break, but he was not brought to trial on a murder charge after his rape trial in the circuit court in Jefferson County resulted in the death penalty.

Maxwell was convicted in a Nov. 3, 1961 attack on a white woman at Hot Springs.

John Browning, who handles prison matters for the governor, said nine men now are being held under death sentences at Tucker but Fields and Maxwell are the only two whose cases have been decided by the Arkansas Supreme Court.

Marine Command Is Changed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. David M. Shoup turned over command of the Marines to Lt. Gen. Wallace M. Greene today and bade farewell to the corps with a "well done for the past, good luck for the future."

Shoup, who won the Medal of Honor at Tarawa, ended four years as Marine Commandant in a change of command and retirement ceremony at the historic Marine barracks.

For the colorful 59-year-old Shoup, it was the end of a career spanning 33 years and including some of the heaviest fighting in the Pacific in World War II.

For the 56-year-old Greene, it was the start of a four-year term as the 23rd commandant of the Marine Corps. Wednesday, he pins on his fourth star as a full general.

Shoup's farewell remarks were brief.

that Pope Paul will meet twice in the Holy Land with Patriarch Athenagoras of Constantinople, Orthodox spiritual leader.

The meetings will be devoted largely to prayer, a source said. Meeting sites have not been announced, but they are expected to be Jerusalem and Bethlehem.

U.S. Cutting Armed Forces in Japan

By CONRAD FINK
Associated Press Writer

TOKYO (AP)—The U.S. Air Force is going to transfer 3,500 men and 78 planes—including its last operational B57 bombardment wing—from Japan to the United States.

This major realignment of U.S. air strength was confirmed today by Lt. Gen. Maurice A. Preston, commander of U.S. forces in Japan, and the U.S. Embassy. Neither would give any details.

An informed source disclosed the United States is negotiating additional Air Force withdrawals but has assured the Japanese it will honor its pledge under the U.S.-Japan security treaty to defend Japan from attack.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said the Japanese government agreed to the withdrawals in recognition of the need for "the most efficient use" of military resources to meet the United States' global commitments.

In Washington, a Pentagon spokesman also declined to elaborate on the realignment.

An informed source in Japan gave these details:

The initial withdrawals are expected to be completed by next fall. Some 2,000 U.S. dependents also will be returned home, and about 2,400 Japanese employees at U.S. bases are expected to lose their jobs.

No reductions are planned in Army, Navy or Marine personnel, who comprise 20,200 men. Total U.S. military strength in Japan is 46,000 men. With them are 54,000 dependents and 3,000 American civilian employees.

Planes to be withdrawn are 48 B57s, 14 F100 tactical fighters and 16 C134 troop transports.

This will mean the deactivation of the 5th Air Force's B57 wing, last of the big bombers still operational in the U.S. Air Force. The 5th Air Force, with headquarters at Fuchu Air Base outside of Tokyo, is the bulwark of U.S. air strength in Japan.

Donna Feels Just a Little Bit Sore

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Donna Axum, the reigning Miss America, arrived at Miami Monday night, "a little sore" from leaping out the window of her smoking Roosevelt Hotel room, but otherwise, "feeling wonderful and ready to wave to anyone who comes to the Orange Bowl parade," she said.

Miss Axum, of El Dorado, Ark., and her chaperone, Lucille Previti, were rescued from Sunday's Jacksonville, Fla., hotel fire which took 21 lives.

Recalling her experience, the 21-year-old beauty said, "it was a kind of hopeless feeling. You can't get out. You can't jump. You're choking. I'm a little sore across the stomach from leaping out the window and my throat and bronchial tubes still hurt . . . but I feel much better."

The lovely brunette left a Jacksonville hospital earlier Monday to fly to Miami to participate in the Orange Bowl game festivities. She and her chaperone were kept in the hospital overnight for observation.

Miss Axum appeared in good spirits as she approached the hospital entrance in a wheel chair. She smiled at a lobby full of spectators, stepped out of the wheel chair and into awaiting auto which took her to the airport.

Miss Previti also went to the door in a wheel chair. Hospital officials explained that all patients are brought to the entrance in a wheel chair when discharged.

A hospital official said both were in "fine condition." Miss Axum's doctor, however, ruled out further news conferences and instructed Donna to get as much rest as possible after reaching Miami.

The hotel fire was the second unpleasant experience for the beauty since she was crowned a little more than three months ago. She was in Dallas, Tex., when President John F. Kennedy was assassinated Nov. 22.

Miss Axum told newsmen of her fire experience Sunday when she was trapped on the 10th floor with her unconscious chaperone.

"I didn't think we would get out of there alive," she said.

Both were treated for smoke inhalation. They were in Jacksonville for appearances at Ga-

Costra Nostra Chief Is Buried

NEW YORK (AP) — Joseph (The Fat Man) Magliocco, 65, a top leader of Cosa Nostra, was buried Tuesday after a Requiem Mass attended by about 50 persons.

Police said they did not learn of the underworld figure's death until Monday. He died at a hospital Saturday of a heart attack.

In testimony before a Senate committee, mobster Joe Valachi said Magliocco was one of the 11 bosses of the Cosa Nostra's ruling families across the nation. He reputedly controlled Brooklyn and Long Island rackets.

Lawsuit at Truman Is Withdrawn

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Four union officials requested Tuesday that a $200,000 lawsuit they had filed against the city of Truman be withdrawn from U.S. District Court at Jonesboro.

The suit attacked the constitutionality of an anti-union ordinance in Truman and the officials asked $50,000 each in damages after they were arrested under the ordinance.

The ordinance was declared unconstitutional by Truman Municipal Judge H. V. Methvin. The law required union organizers to pay a $1,000 a year fee for the privilege of operating in Truman.

Bill Becker, secretary - treasurer of the state AFL-CIO said Tuesday that since the law had been declared unconstitutional there was no need to take it further.

"We are not interested in making money off of the damage suits," Becker said. "We only want the right to organize and to service the organizations."

Becker and three Jonesboro union officials were arrested when they tried to organize workers of the Jameson Construction Co. at the Slant and Slant garment plant site.

Now You'll Understand About TV

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Like other industries and professions television has developed its own special jargon.

CBS recently distributed some 1964 diaries with definitions of about 400 common television words and phrases. Here are some of the more colorful and confusing:

Barn doors—Shades, horizontally hinged, on spotlights and used to narrow the field of light.

Belcher — Performer with a frog in his throat.

Billboard — Announcement at the beginning or end of a program giving the sponsor credit.

Bird's eye — A camera shot from a point higher over the stage.

Blow (or muf or fluff) — A performer's action when he forgets or stumbles on his lines.

Burp — Extraneous noise on television circuits.

Cold — A dramatic scene played without background music.

Cowcatcher — A commercial at the start of a program for a sponsor's product which is not advertised later in the program.

2 - Notice
Fishpole — A manually operated rod with a microphone on the end.

Hitchhike — A commercial at the end of a program for a sponsor's product which is not advertised earlier in the program.

Nut — The complete cost of producing a program.

Pipe — A telephone installation.

Senior — A 5,000-watt spotlight.

String bean — A small, thin portable microphone.

Woodshed — A rehearsal at the beginning or end of the performers, or a musical director who ad libs in rehearsal.

Suspect to Be Tried in Cabin Holdup

KENNETT, Mo. (AP) — A magistrate's hearing was scheduled Jan. 9 for Tommy Martin Edwards, 43, who is charged in Arkansas with the robbery of 13 Truman residents.

Sheriff Raymond Scott said Edwards had refused to waive extradition and had refused to make a statement. He was released late Tuesday on $5,000 bond.

A warrant for Edwards, of Springfield, Mo., was mailed to Missouri authorities Monday by Deputy Prosecutor Henry Wilson of Truman.

Edwards was arrested Sunday night near Kennett by a Missouri State Trooper. Officers found $2,569 and a .45 pistol in his car.

The 13 Truman men were robbed Sunday by four men who hid in waiting at a secluded cabin in where the Truman people went for a fish-try.

Texas Copies Navy Tactics for Big Game

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Tommy Wade could turn out to be the most important player on the Texas football team, ranked No. 1 in the country.

In the Longhorns' practice sessions for today's clash with second-ranked Navy in the Cotton Bowl, Wade has tried to imitate the inimitable All-America and Heisman Trophy winner of the Middies—Roger Staubach.

"We want our boys to realize that when Staubach is going east, the boys on the West side can't relax, because he'll be coming back their way in a minute or two," explains Texas Coach Darrell Royal.

How well the Longhorns and Wade, Texas' No. 2 quarterback, have succeeded will become evident today when eight of the classic teams in the nation meet in the annual four-game New Year's Day bowl program.

Here's the line-up, with season records, national rankings, expected attendance and television coverage, Eastern Standard Time.

COTTON BOWL—Texas, 10-0, No. 1, vs. Navy, 9-1, No. 2, 7:50 p.m., CBS, 1:45 p.m.

ROSE BOWL—Illinois, 7-1-1, No. 3, vs. Washington, 6-4, unranked, 100,000, NBC, 4:45 p.m.

ORANGE BOWL—Auburn, 9-1, No. 5, vs. Nebraska, 9-1, No. 6, 7:30 p.m., ABC, 1:45 p.m.

SUGAR BOWL—Mississippi, 7-0-2, No. 7, vs. Alabama, 8-2, No. 8, 8:50 p.m., NBC, 1:45 p.m.

The year-end program got underway Tuesday at El Paso, Tex., with Oregon's Bob Berry passing for two touchdowns and leading the Ducks to a 21-14 victory in the Sun Bowl against a Southern Methodist team stricken with intestinal disorders a few hours before the game.

The Cotton Bowl match-up that brings together the top two teams in the country figures to be the No. 1 attraction on today's program. Navy suffered a jolt when fullback Pat Donnelly pulled a hamstring muscle in his left leg during a practice session Monday.

Nevertheless the game figures to be a contest between Navy's wide-open offense that revolves around the multiple talents of Staubach and a stingy Texas defense anchored by All-America lineman Scott Appleton.

Staubach's partners in a backfield Coach Wayne Hardin says is the best he's had are Donnelly halfback Johnny Sai and Flanker Ed Orr. If Donnelly can't make it, the Middies have a problem because his replacement, Nick Markoff, has been troubled by a similar injury.

The Texas attack centers on quarterback Duke Carlisle, hard running Tommy Ford and shoeless kicker Tony Crosby, who has provided the decisive points in many of the Longhorns' close games.

At Pasadena, Calif., where Illinois and Washington meet in the granddaddy of the bowls, it figures to be a similar battle. The Illini rely heavily on a rugged defense led by All-America Dick Butkus. The Huskies usually potent attack may be severely handicapped by the loss of Junior Coffey, the injured fullback, and quarterback Bill Douglas is expected to go to the air.

The Auburn-Nebraska game matches two heavy exponents of the option play, the Tigers All-America, Jimmy Sidle, and the Cornhuskers' Dennis Clardie.

Alabama, which suspended first-string quarterback Joe Namath, will hand the signal-calling chores to Steve Sloan. Mississippi's offense centers on two able passers, Perry Lee Dunn and Jim Weatherly.

Oregon built a 21-0 halftime lead on Dennis Keller's nine-yard run and touchdown passes by Berry of 23 yards to Dick Imwalle and 20 to Paul Burlinson. SMU struck in the fourth quarter when John Roderick hauled in a three-yard touch-

All-America of 1897 Dies at 92

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—John H. Minds, a Walter Camp All-America in 1897 and a member of the Football Hall of Fame, died Tuesday at his home. He was 92.

Minds, a lawyer, played tackle and fullback on four University of Pennsylvania football teams that won 55 out of 56 games from 1894 through 1897.

Cotton Bowl Quarterbacks Different

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer
DALLAS (AP) — How does it feel to be the "other quarterback" in the big game of the year?

That would be Duke Carlisle, quarterback of national champion Texas, which faced No. 2 Navy and explosive All-America Roger Staubach in the Cotton Bowl today.

"I think any quarterback would like to have Staubach's natural ability," Carlisle said. "He is by far the best all-around quarterback I've ever seen."

"But he is the way he is, and I am the way I am, and I wouldn't want to change that," Staubach is an elusive, scrambling type of quarterback, who retreats 10, 15 or 20 yards behind the line and then throws or runs. He made a mile during the season, most of it by passing, and won all the honors.

Carlisle made less than half as many yards, 415 rushing and 416 passing. He specializes in the quarterback option.

Auburn Over Nebraska Is Experts Pick

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Southeastern Conference never has lost to the Big Eight in an Orange Bowl football game, and the Auburn Tigers are favored to keep the record of the Southern circuit clean in today's clash with the Nebraska Cornhuskers.

But the odds makers weren't too sure of themselves. The line varied shakily from 1½ to three points.

The SEC's victory string over the Big Eight started in 1939, when Tennessee beat Oklahoma 17-0, and ended last year when Alabama whipped Oklahoma, also 17-0.

In between, Georgia Tech defeated Missouri 21-7 in 1940 and Kansas 20-14 in 1948; Georgia shut out Missouri 14-0 in 1960, and Louisiana State mauled Colorado 25-7 in 1962.

Against other opposition, however, the Big Eight's Orange Bowl record is 6-1. Oklahoma racked up four victories and Colorado and Missouri one each between 1954 and 1961.

In its one previous trip to the bowl, Nebraska fell before Duke 34-7. Auburn's only other visit here was in 1938, when the Tigers beat Michigan State 6-0.

Snow Greet Sugar Bowl, 90,000 Fans

By DAVID ZINMAN
NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Passionate Mississippi and power-gear Alabama clashed today in the 30th annual Sugar Bowl—looking like its namesake after almost four inches of snow fell over this Deep South city.

Some 80,000 fans were expected to see the kickoff on a tarpaulin-protected field at 1 p.m. CST. The football game will be televised nationally, NBC.

The forecast was for fair skies with temperatures in the low 40s.

The weatherman earlier had thrown a scare into both squads—unfamiliar with playing in a snowstorm in the sunny South—when snow sprinkled over New Orleans all day Tuesday.

Mississippi, 7-0-2, landed Tuesday during the peak of the snowfall—the first major snow in New Orleans since 1958—after flying from the University at Oxford, Miss.

Alabama, 8-2, arrived Monday pass from Danny Thomas and a seven-yard scoring flip from Mac White.

With 24 seconds left, the Mustangs made a bid to pull it out with an onside kick, but it went out of bounds.

Senior Bowl Classic to Be Saturday

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — North and South coaches have named starting defensive line-ups for the 15th annual Senior Bowl football game Saturday.

Sleet, snow and rain forced both teams off the practice field Tuesday and made coaches switch tactics. The teams were scheduled for drills on pass patterns and wide plays, but they had to settle for gymnasium work instead.

Signal drills were conducted by North Coach George Wilson of the Detroit Lions and South tutor Tom Landry of the Dallas Cowboys.

Wilson named four men averaging 246 pounds as his probable defensive starters.

They were Buffalo's Gerald Philbin (231) and Muskingum College's Roger LaLonde (255) ends; and Pacific University's Don Shackleford (250) and Nebraska's Lloyd Voss (247), tackles.

Voss will report after the Orange Bowl game with Auburn today.

Landry listed four defensive linemen who averaged 241 pounds.

The South defenders are Bill Traux (225) of Louisiana State and Jake Adams (225) of Virginia Tech, at ends; and Ken Kortas (288) of Louisville and Whaley Hall (224) of Mississippi, tackles. Hall is playing in the Sugar Bowl game against Alabama today.

The South's linebackers will average 225 to the North's 213. The Southerners will have Miami's Dan Conners (245) as middle linebacker and Georgia Tech's Ted Davis (225) and Louisiana State's Buddy Soefker (215) on the outside.

Wilson picked Boston University's Bill Budness (210) for the middle linebacker, and Kansas' Ken Coleman (210) and Nebraska's John Kirby (220) at the outside spots.

Alabama's Benny Nelson and Auburn's George Rose were listed as defensive halfbacks for the South. Landry said they probably would be assisted by Mississippi State's Ode Burrell, and West Texas State's Jerry Richardson.

North defensive backs will be Glenn Holton of West Virginia and Vince Turner of Missouri.

Georgia Tech's All America Billy Lothridge was listed as the South's starting safetyman, although there was a good chance he also would see offensive action. Richardson will open at safety for the other side.

Dick Hoover of Iowa State and Dick Drummond of George Washington were picked for the Yankee safety berths.

San Diego in Playoff for League Title

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The San Diego Chargers will be principals in next Sunday's American Football League championship game because they won the 1963 Western Division title.

But it seems unfortunate, from the San Diego viewpoint, that the Chargers won't be playing the team with the best record against Eastern Division competition. If they were, the Chargers couldn't possibly lose the title game.

They'd be playing against themselves.

Instead, they'll play the Boston Patriots, who won the Eastern Division championship in a playoff with the Buffalo Bills.

The Chargers, strangely, had only a 500 record in their own division. They beat Kansas City twice, but split two games with Denver and lost twice to Oakland.

Against Eastern Division teams, on the other hand, the Chargers won eight games and lost none. They won two from Boston, two from Buffalo, two from New York and two from Houston.

In fact, the Chargers are champions of the Western Division only because their victories over Eastern Division clubs counted on the Western Division standings. Among Western teams, Oakland had by far the best record—six victories day from its training camp at Mobile, Ala.

Ole Miss, favored by a touchdown, is the defending Sugar Bowl champion. The Rebels beat Arkansas 17-13 last New Year's Day.

and no losses—against clubs in its own division.

Illinois Is Favored in Rose Bowl

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer
PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Third-ranked Illinois, the Big Ten's Cinderella champion, tackled underdog Washington, the wavering Big Six winner in the 50th Rose Bowl football game today.

The kickoff under sunny skies before 100,000 in the huge bowl nestled in the Arroyo Seco, was scheduled for 5 p.m. EST, with a national telecast and broadcast by the National Broadcasting Co.

This was a collision of two clubs rated as least-likely-to-succeed contenders until the 1963 season was well under way.

But Illinois resurged amazingly from a dismal 2-7 record a year ago to win its first Big Ten title in a decade.

Washington dropped its first three games and then outspurred favored Southern California for the Big Six crown.

This also was a showdown between two vigorous young coaches, who bear the Bud (Oklahoma) Wilkinson stamp and hold singular Rose Bowl records.

Illinois' Pete Elliott, 37, who has ridden a coaching roller coaster at both the University of California and Illinois, has coached on both sides of the Rose Bowl fence.

He also played defensive quarterback on Michigan's team which routed Southern California 49-0 in the 1948 Rose Bowl game. No other coach can match that three-way Rose Bowl parlay.

Pete's California Bears took a 38-12 trouncing from Big Ten champion Iowa in the 1959 Rose Bowl. A greater embarrassment befell Elliott in his second Illinois season as the 1961 Illini staggered through the school's first winless year (0-9) in history.

Washington's Jim Owens, 36, now in his seventh husky season, has become the wizard of modern Rose Bowl coaches.

This is Big Jim's third Pasadena visit in five years. His underdog Huskies torpedooed Wisconsin 44-8 in 1960, and the following year humbled national champion Minnesota 17-7.

The Los Angeles Lakers held on to their National Basketball Association Western Division lead today after downing the St. Louis Hawks 132-119.

Led by Jerry West, the Lakers scored 26 points in a six-minute salvo in the third period Tuesday night.

Despite the defeat, the Hawks still are second to Los Angeles, 3½ games behind.

In the only other NBA game New Year's Eve, San Francisco's Warriors walloped the New York Knicks at New York 101-79 on the 42-point effort of Wilt Chamberlain.

The Warriors played without No. 2 scorer Guy Rodgers.

Kentucky's Fast Close Averts Loss

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The lights nearly went out for top-ranked Kentucky Tuesday—literally and figuratively.

The Wildcats, down 10 points to Duke at halftime of the Sugar Bowl basketball tournament's championship game, staged a second half comeback and pulled out the title 81-79. Terry Mobley's set shot with seven seconds left produced the deciding points.

With less than a minute to go and the score tied, Kentucky stole the ball and went into a free zone to set up one shot. Randy Embury dribbled most of the time away before feeding Mobley whose 10-footer hit the backboard and fell in.

Auburn took third place in the tournament, 62-52, over Loyola of New Orleans in a game delayed 45 minutes when a power failure left the Loyola Field House without lights. But they stayed on for the Kentucky-Duke game.

Nash, who scored 58 points in two games, was named the tournament's outstanding player.

Seventh-ranked Davidson won the Charlotte Invitational in a 102-68 romp over Princeton. The Wildcats shot a phenomenal 62 per cent and ran up a 55-36 halftime lead winning their ninth straight. Texas took third place in the tournament, coming from behind to whip Penn 69-61.

The nation's longest winning streak remained intact as Vanderbilt dumped Virginia Military Institute 87-71. It was the 15th straight victory over two years for the No. 6 Commodores.

Fifth-ranked Michigan broke its home court scoring record in a 117-87 waltz over Detroit. Cazzie Russell scored 36 points and Bill Buntin added 29 and grabbed 21 rebounds as the Wolverines won their ninth in ten starts.

Loyola of Chicago, upset in the Quaker City Tournament, regained its scoring touch with a 105-92 victory over Indiana in the feature game of a Chicago Stadium doubleheader. Skip Thoren's 33 points and 21 rebounds helped Illinois to its second victory of the season over Notre Dame, 87-78, in the opener.

The Ramblers, No. 3 in the poll, were paced by 6-foot-7 Les Hunter, who scored 37 points before fouling out midway in the second half and Ron Miller who hit 32. Dick Van Arsdale had 36 for Indiana.

In other games, St. Louis

Natalie Wood Praised in New Film

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — New movie — "How they build those things up in the books and in the movies," says Natalie Wood in "Love With a Proper Stranger." "All I felt was scared and disgusted with myself."

She plays a New York shop-girl who finds herself pregnant after a thoughtless vacation alliance. In the opening scene she confronts a directionless young musician (Steve McQueen) with the news that he is going to be a father. He doesn't remember her.

This is the basis for one of the best comedy-dramas in a long season, a second success for the young makers of "To Kill a Mockingbird." Having helped Gregory Peck to an Oscar, producer Alan J. Pakula and director Robert Mulligan may well do the same for Natalie Wood.

There is an intense humanity about "Love With a Proper Stranger," but it should not be mistaken for a problem picture. There is a bountiful supply of genuine humor and, in reverse sort of way, romance.

Pakula and Mulligan were meticulous in their casting, and all the performers respond beautifully to Mulligan's knack for character definition. The two leads are well matched.

Natalie Wood's large and expressive eyes portray everything that is required of the role of Angie—bewilderment, hurt, defiance, terror. All the notes are there and none is false.

Steve McQueen has a difficult characterization of the musician whose irresponsibility should not be mistaken for indifference. He captures all the quirks with an ad lib quality that makes him completely believable.

Sugar Beet May Change Agri Pattern

By J. C. TILLMAN
Associated Press Writer

The sugar beet, a four pound vegetable that sweetens 75 per cent of the nation's palate, may change the agricultural pattern of a tri-state area, including Eastern Arkansas.

The road to profitable production of sugar beets will be a long and hard one, proponents of the crop admit.

But the incentives to growing the beet are great enough that the trip may be worth it.

The newest area for sugar beet production lies in the delta country of Arkansas, the boot-heel of Missouri and the adjacent Western Tennessee areas.

To help Arkansas farmers determine the feasibility of sugar beet production, the University of Arkansas' agricultural division produced a 57-page report for the Legislative Council.

The report was requested by Sen. Clarence Bell of Parkin, who lives in one of the areas where the sugar beets would be grown.

The report presents these obstacles to profitable production: An adverse climate, need for local processing facilities, required rotation, current low prices and the difficulty of obtaining acreage allotments from the federal government without having a production history.

The gains pictured include the possibility of a new processing plant, probably in the New Madrid, Mo. area but possibly in Eastern Arkansas; a higher income per acre than from soybeans and other crops, and valuable by-products, principally silage.

A mill to process sugar beets would cost an estimated $6 million, would pay farmers some $3 million annually for their crop and spend an additional $1 million in the area for operating materials.

Detailed, these are some of the production problems:

Extended higher temperatures higher than 85 degrees retard sugar formation and Arkansas summers have temperatures over 86 degrees. Some farmers plan to overcome that by making the beet a winter crop.

The beet plant can use up to 36 inches of water per season. In such years as this one in Arkansas, where rainfall for the entire year is just over 25 inches, considerable irrigation would be required. This limits production principally to those equipped for irrigation.

Good yields with a high degree of certainty are essential because of high production costs. However, the average net return for beets is $47 to $67 an acre on 16 to 18 ton per-acre production, compared to an average return of $49 per acre for cotton and $40 for soybeans. It takes the sugar beet two years to mature, though.

The university has gained considerable knowledge about the sugar beet from research and actual growing of the crop. The series of tests made at Clarkdale and Fayetteville weren't highly successful but pointed out errors that could be eliminated to provide success.

Farmers in the tri-state area, with the help of the university's Extension Service and the Great Eastern Sugar Beet Co. of Colorado, have been growing experimental crops of their own—some with success.

Raymond Earls of Rector put three acres into production last year and produced 67,305 pounds. This figures out at about 12 tons per acre, well below the desired 16 to 18, but enough to yield a net return of over $6 per acre. The sugar content was 15.3 to 16.42 per cent, well within the desired range. Earls feels his first crop was only 75 per cent efficient.

Ed McKnight of Parkin favors the winter crop. He says beets in Arizona and California have withstood to four below zero. He plans to plant a second small plot next spring if the economic picture looks good.

McKnight says the consensus among many east Arkansas farmers is that "this looks good." He says, "We'll try to get up production, then try for a mill. I'm enticed by the income possibilities."

Allen Neely of Clarkdale points out that there is no growers' association in Arkansas now pushing beet production, but he feels that if farmers continue to experiment and the Extension Service gets behind them, Northeast Arkansas can grow beets profitably.

There is a political significance in the cooperation of the tri-state area farmers. The location of sugar beet mills is specified by the federal government on the basis of successful production. The area has Rep. E. C. Gathings, D-Ark. and Rep. Paul Jones, D-Mo., both on the House Agriculture Committee.

The Extension service says it will continue research on beets. And Great Western is sending field men into the tri-state area to work with farmers growing experimental plots. Earls says right now this is a

TIPS ON HOW TO BE HAPPY THOUGH MARRIED
By Helen Worden Erskine

Dear Helen: Remember me? I'm the henpecked husband disguised as a crochety old bachelor who wrote you last spring. Here are some tips on how to make a marriage go which might be helpful to your readers for 1964 or any other year.

For some 30 years I was manager and personnel director of my own and other people's companies. In the course of work I talked to thousands of married couples, and for 10 years traveled on business with groups of women, mostly married.

In all that lengthy experience I met very few people who could honestly say after five years of wedlock, "We are happy!" Sure, many pretended to be and almost every sign on the outside would seem to indicate this. But too often those who honeyed and dandled each other in public secretly suffered from aching hearts. When opportunity presented itself, I stressed the premise for a happy, warm and wise heart with a deep-down love which stems from right thing and good deeds.

If a young girl possesses this feeling—genuine, not assumed—it is as much a caress to a man as any physical touch. Without this she will never, never attain the marriage of her dreams. Tragically enough, most girls make the mistake of throwing their physical charm, bodies and sex into the struggle for a husband. Admitted that men ask, even plead for sex, but still feel when it's used, that a trap has been set.

Young men who watch their thinking and lead a wholesome life with a purpose, have little trouble with the sex urge. These boys do not want to tamper with their dates, neither do they want their girls to stir them up. And if they don't get snared into too much sensual thinking they will have a peaceful, serene single life. Strangely enough, sex after marriage, where man and wife feel a deep concern for each other, is not the same as premarital sex. By comparison, single sex is an empty thing.

Some religions encourage their followers to abhor sex. The adherents who do are invariably unhappy. It's the right attitude, not the getting away, which counts.

To lead a complete life, Helen, as you well know, men and women need each other. Especially of "the blind leading the blind."

Beets have been successfully produced for the past 10 years in Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio and Wisconsin with 13.6 ton-per-acre production. This compares with experimental tests in the tri-state area.

On this basis, the beet would not immediately be a major crop, but as varieties improve and production methods become more efficient, some leading farmers and researchers feel yields will be increased sufficiently to make it one.

cially do the women need men, though it may seem the other way around. Compared to what they put into marriage, men derive little from it, while even in bad marriages women have much of what they want: children, some security, a home and a man around the house.

Before marriage men enjoy good living, friends and a freedom of choice. After marriage, all a man has, unless he be lucky enough to team up with a woman who possesses a warm heart, is somebody to talk to and sex of a kind. Generally speaking, most men meet their wives' demands, often gladly and with no complaint.

Wives do not possess the same fine spirit. They want the marriage to operate according to what they believe is right. Husbands are smart enough to see behind this. The resulting disappointment and bitterness, though nursed in private, eventually explodes in public. Nonetheless, the wife is rarely held responsible unless her faults are blatantly noticeable.

As a consequence, the whole business of marriage becomes a shabby distortion simply because people do not imbibe the spirit of genuine love. Before any of us can really know true affection for one another, we must first have a fair measure of affection for all mankind. Love, unlike infatuation, is not a limited thing. It is a spiritual attribute of the purest mental quality, far above the limitations of materialism.

Of course there are some married people who are truly happy even after years of living together. Their enjoyment, intensity and deep feeling cannot be described. If a man married a warm-hearted woman he has secured the most important human thing in this world to him. This type of woman holds the key to a happy marriage.

Use these observations any way you wish. To me, you are the best of the crop of the human relations writers. If you advise the heartless to clean their own "houses" before they start to clean another's you won't be far off the track. —Mr. R.

Dear Mr. R.: With this philosophy how can you be a henpecked husband? I'd like to hear from your wife on that!

Epic Poem in Tribute to Adopted Land

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—In "America, America" Elia Kazan has composed an epic poem in tribute to his family and his adopted land.

The film is poetic, yet novelistic in style; indeed, the narrative was first published by Kazan in novel form. The story obviously flowed from his heart. The result is a masterpiece that will long endure.

The triumph is Kazan's all the way. He is the writer, director and producer. He obviously has chosen the settings and the characters with a loving eye. For his main figure he picked a completely unknown and inexperienced actor, molding him to fit perfectly the concept Kazan had in mind.

The theme of "America, America" is so basic and dramatic in the history of this land that it is amazing it has never been adequately treated on the screen before.

Stavros Topouzoglou — actually Kazan's uncle — is a Greek boy living in Turk-held country at the end of the last century. He sees the Turks terrorize the Armenians in retaliation for Constantinople bombings. He sees his large family living in fear that the Greeks will be next in line.

Stavros' father believes the boy is the family's hope for liberation and sends him off to Constantinople with their small wealth. The plan was for Stavros to invest the money in a business. But the boy has another dream: America.

The journey is a disaster from the start. Stavros is beaten, robbed and degraded. He tries to work for his passage to America, only to have his savings robbed by a prostitute. He seeks to marry money but loses his nerve and finds an even more debasing method to earn a ticket for New York. Even then he is thwarted within sight of his goal.

This Machine Catches the U.S. Dozing

By BOB VOELKER

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Now comes the most devilish device of all. And the Russians are at the bottom of it.

They talked about it not long ago—right out in the open—and there was hardly a ripple in world opinion.

It's a sleep machine. What the Russians do is wire this sleep machine to a person—and almost presto—the person dozes off and gets the equivalent of a full night's sleep in about two hours.

Countrymen, be warned. Some day this sleep machine will usher in the final attack on humanity.

The day will come when great production lines will be turning out sleep machines like toasters. Everyone will have one. Two hours sleep will become standard.

Then what will happen if a guy dozes off in church? What possible excuse could he have? And when his wife wants him to do some nasty, little job around the house, he'll never be able to use the old alibi: "I'll do it tomorrow. I'm tired."

Consider the GIs, the millions of bored draftees who pulled the great escape by "sacking out." The same GIs will be hearing sergeants talk like this: "Okay men, these barrack lights will be out at midnight."

"America, America" is no sugary love letter to the United States. Kazan makes no concessions for sentiment or the trappings of a commercial movie and hence the film may fall short of being a popular attraction.

But it is Kazan's lack of compromise that gives "America, America" its cumulative power. You are caught up in the Odyssey of this modern Greek because it is completely real. The photography by Haskell Wexler, sometimes blurred like life itself, reflects the mood and texture of the land and its people.

Greeks Call for New Elections

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—King Paul today ordered election of a new parliament on Feb. 16 in an effort to solve the political crisis plaguing Greece at the same time it faces trouble on Cyprus.

The king decided to dissolve the Parliament elected Nov. 3 after leaders of the nation's two major political parties couldn't form a government and refused to work together in a coalition.

The palace announced the king had asked Ioannis Paraskevopoulos, 63-year-old deputy governor of the Bank of Greece, to head a caretaker cabinet and hold the elections.

No Question About the Date

TRINCHERA, Colo. (AP)—After their engagement was announced, there was never any question when Elaine Doherty and William Jackson Jr. would be married.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Doherty, parents of Elaine, were married on Dec. 30. So were Jackson's parents.

The young people were married here Monday—Dec. 30.

and reveille is at 2 a.m. We got a full 22-hour schedule tomorrow.

Think of the school kids. They will be buried under mountains of homework.

Future generations will be hearing things like this:

Bartender: "See that guy on the end of the bar? I couldn't stand him when he was in here only five hours a day. Now he's here 11 hours a day."

Night cop: "Don't these people ever go home?"

Housewife: "George, I have so many club engagements these days I simply must buy some more new clothes."

In the end, society will become sleepless. Sleepiness will be subversive. The warning will be:

"When the knock on the door comes in the middle of the night, you better not be asleep."

Congressional Pay Raise Not Likely

By J. W. DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The possibility that Congress might vote itself a pay raise next year seems to be growing weaker.

The chance that Congress will require its members to disclose all their financial sources looks even slimmer—slim to point of no chance in sight.

There has been considerable agitation for a pay raise, from $22,500 a year to $32,500. But congressmen are notoriously nervous about raising their pay during an election year, and that's what 1964 is. Also, Congress' job performance this year has been widely criticized.

Already there has been a revival, on a small scale, of the "Bundles for Congress" campaign that infuriated and alarmed a good many of the senators and representatives in the 1940s.

In that satirical campaign, taxpayers sent packages of second-hand clothes to members of Congress who were complaining about how hard up they were and how much they needed a raise.

Last month a bundle of old clothes from the "Senior Citizens of Tioga County, Sabinsville, Pa.," arrived at the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee, which had approved the pay raise bill.

The donors said they hoped the gift "will help tide you over."

A comparative handful of Congress members have voluntarily made statements of their income in addition to salary.

The idea of requiring disclosure of income sources is to discourage conflicts of interest, to guard against official actions for private gain. If a senator was known to hold stock in a certain company, for example, he might hesitate to vote for legislation that would help that company.

But most members aren't eager to bare all. They take the stand that, unless the personal income affairs of every citizen are a matter of public record, there is no sound reason Congress members should be singled out.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., is one of those who has provided a statement of his finances.

But, in saying he would back a bill to require similar disclosures by all members of Congress, Hart pointed to a contradictory situation.

"If a man reveals himself to have much investment wealth, one of two conclusions is possible: He has much personal interest to protect and is therefore suspect, or he will act objectively because he can be independent of moneyed pressure groups."

"If, on the other hand, he reveals that he has little or no wealth, again two contradictory conclusions can be drawn: He will act objectively because he has no personal wealth to protect, or he will be particularly susceptible to moneyed pressure groups."

In the end, Hart said, the decision would still seem to rest on the public's opinion of a man's integrity.

Psychologist Visits Kennedy Slayer

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—A Yale University psychologist, Dr. Roy Schafer, spent several hours Monday examining Jack Ruby, who killed President Kennedy's accused assassin.

Schafer said he would visit the Dallas strip-tease joint owner again today in his county jail cell.

Schafer, 41, said he was conducting the tests for Dr. Manfred Guttmacher who has been retained as chief psychiatrist for the defense in Ruby's scheduled Feb. 3 trial. A trial delay is expected, however.

Guttmacher is the chief medical officer for a Baltimore court.

Schafer said tests given Ruby commonly are used for studying human minds and may show personality and thinking traits.

THE TWISTED SABER

After scanning the letter in silence, Benedict shook his head: "Here's a justification—of sorts: 'General Greene, who has lately been at Philadelphia, took occasion to inquire upon what principle the Congress proceeded in their late promotion of general officers. He was informed that the members from each state seemed to insist upon having a proportion of general officers adequate to the number of men which they furnish, and that as Connecticut had already two major generals, it was their full share. I confess this is a strange mode of reasoning, but it may serve to show you that the promotion which was due to your seniority was not overlooked for want of merit in you.'"

"It may be that General Washington has told you the literal truth."

"I have sacrificed my interest, my ease and my happiness in the service of my country," he paused, then went on even more vehemently. "I have fought hard for the United States. I have suffered a wound for her sake, and I am still ready to risk my life if it will help achieve independence."

Benedict and Washington exchanged several letters. In time the Commander-in-Chief managed to persuade his hot-headed subordinate not to take any action he might regret.

Benedict made up his mind to go to Philadelphia, appear before the Congress and demand justice. After collecting a large number of documents that he hoped would strengthen his case, he left New Haven on April 26. He had ridden only a few miles down the Post Road when a courier hurrying in the opposite direction caused him to change his plans.

British General William Tryon had landed a large force at Compo Beach, not far from Norwalk, and had marched inland to Danbury where he had destroyed an American ammunition depot, a granary and private property. General Wooster was marching toward Danbury with 400 men and Brig. Gen. Gold Silliman of the state militia was hurrying there with 500 others.

Benedict immediately forgot his own problems and raced inland, joining the expedition at Redding. Tryon was retreating toward the coast after completing his mission. The militiamen were divided into two groups, one under Wooster and the other under Benedict and Silliman.

Benedict raced ahead with 200 militiamen and set up a road block of felled trees a few miles north of Ridgefield.

About an hour before dusk a British cavalry detachment appeared on the road, followed by 800 Redcoat infantrymen.

The British cavalry halted. It was obvious that mounted men could not capture the fortified position. The leading unit of the enemy infantry charged with fixed bayonets.

Benedict waited until they were no more than 50 feet from his barrier of logs. Then he shouted, "Fire! Give them all you've got, boys!"

At such close range the militiamen could not miss. When the smoke cleared away, 30 English soldiers were seen sprawled on the ground. Not one American had been hit.

The British stubbornly repeated the same tactics again and again.

The Redcoat commander finally understood his error; he sent two companies to take the American left flank. The militiamen became panicky and when they started to fall back, Benedict knew the moment had come to break off the engagement.

"Into the swamp, boys!" he called.

As he galloped toward the swamp, a hail of bullets killed his horse. Benedict's right foot was entangled in his stirrup as he leaped to the ground. He was making a desperate attempt to free himself when a British sergeant ran toward him shouting, "You're my prisoner!"

"Not yet," Benedict replied, drawing his pistol. He took careful aim and placed his bullet between the soldier's eyes.

Benedict slashed away his stirrup with his sword, then plunged into the swamp on foot. Miraculously he escaped without a scratch. Next he led the exhausted troops through the swamp to a rendezvous where the other militiamen were waiting. There he learned that General Wooster had been killed and General Silliman wounded. Taking sole command of the entire unit, now composed of approximately 700 men, Benedict bullied the troops into marching until midnight.

Congress Ends But Decisions Undecided

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has ended its longest peacetime session with fair warning that when it returns to work in eight days it faces "some of the most difficult decisions which this or any Congress is likely to be required to reach."

Thus Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield let his colleagues know, if they didn't already, that the drawn-out 1963 session of the 88th Congress was "just a beginning."

The battles over civil rights legislation and tax reduction had been only postponed and still lay ahead, although Democratic leaders express confidence both measures will be enacted.

Adjournment Monday came as an anticlimax after the false starts, angry words and pre-dawn session during the holiday rush when the drive to close up shop was blocked by the foreign aid appropriation bill.

The Senate completed action on the battered $3 billion measure Monday including the provision giving the President discretionary authority to approve government guarantees of credit for private community sales to the Soviet bloc.

With this out of the way the Senate adjourned at 2:19 p.m. and the House made it official at 2:51 p.m. after a one-minute session.

It then became a time for year-end stock taking, of balancing the debits and credits of the 1963 Congress which has been described by critics as a "do-nothing" session and by Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen as a "stop, look and listen" Congress.

Its leaders rank its chief accomplishments—all gained after long struggles—as the ratification of the limited nuclear test-ban treaty and enactment of three major education bills.

With the test-ban treaty, Mansfield told his colleagues Monday, "we have kindled a flicker of light which may yet illuminate the way to a reasoned peace, a peace which the world must find if there is to be a civilized world at all."

Although nothing was done in the field of general aid for pub-

One Kidnaper Wanted to Keep It Safe

LOS ANGELES (AP)—John Irwin, one of three men accused of kidnaping Frank Sinatra Jr., says he "went along to make sure no one got hurt."

Irwin, 42, talked with newsmen briefly Monday after a federal judge reduced his bail from $50,000 to $30,000.

He said he was innocent of any part in the kidnaping of young Sinatra at Lake Tahoe.

The young singer was kidnaped from a Stateline, Calif., motel Dec. 8. Three days later he was returned to his parents in Los Angeles for a $240,000 ransom.

Irwin said he spent only about $31 of the $48,000 in ransom money he received.

"I bought some toys for my kids and something for my wife," he said, "but I had a check in my pocket and I honestly intended to cash it and make up the difference."

Federal Judge Thurmond Clarke reduced Irwin's bail, saying he believed that Irwin helped crack the case.

Bail reduction followed a plea by Irwin's attorney, Gladys Towles Root.

"It was Mr. Irwin who first called the editor of a newspaper to turn himself in. By that action the FBI was informed. They came to where he said he would be and by his action they apprehended other persons—probably not all persons but other persons," said Mrs. Root.

Barry Keenan and Joseph Clyde Amsler, both 23, are also accused in the kidnaping. A federal grand jury will resume study of the case Thursday.

Man Is Charged With Assault

HAZEN, Ark. (AP) — Bennie Clark, 31, of Diaz in Jackson County has been charged with assault with intent to kill in the wounding of Pete Corpien, state wildlife officer for Prairie County.

Prairie County Sheriff E. O. Hamilton said Corpien was shot while he and Clark were scuffling over Clark's gun. Corpien tried to arrest Clark for shooting a doe eight miles southwest of Hazen. Corpien was hospitalized at Stuttgart and Hamilton said he was in serious but not critical condition.

Hamilton said Clark was being held at Hazen but probably would be transferred to Prairie County jail in Des Arc. His bond was set at $2,500, Hamilton said.

Life Plans Often Have to Change

By REBECCA F. GROSS
Editor The Lock Haven Express

Written for
The Associated Press

LOCK HAVEN, Pa. (AP)—Ten years ago this New Year's Day I woke up in a hospital to be told that the afternoon before an automobile accident had damaged my legs so badly that both had been amputated. In that moment, I had to rearrange plans for my life.

In campaigns for highway safety, the emphasis is placed on the large number of fatalities. This toll is large enough, and tragic enough, but it does not tell the whole story. People like me represent a tremendous additional army of the maimed, the handicapped and the permanently maimed.

The cost of their recovery, the amount of effort they must put into a readjustment to life, and the changes they must face, makes a story that is seldom told.

Since New Year's 1954, I have not walked a step without canes. I have had to give up my favorite relaxations, horseback riding and golf. I have tried to continue my favorite vacation activity, travel. But there are more difficulties connected with going places with canes and a wheel chair.

Instead of taking a trip to Russia and Japan, which I had hoped to do in 1955, I spent $10,000 of my savings and borrowed money paying the bills of doctors, hospitals and rehabilitation centers where I put in most of 1954. Since then, I guess I have spent another couple of thousand dollars for artificial legs, trying to find the best combination of prostheses for maximum comfort, agility and efficiency.

Fortunately, I have been able to continue my work as a newspaper editor.

Although there have been compensations in new friends and new insights for the handicaps and the expense that followed my automobile accident, I often think how easy it might have been to prevent that collision.

When I am finally able to drive past the intersection where I was hurt, without remembering what happened there, I shall consider myself psychologically recovered. It has not happened yet. When I see the mailbox and the utility pole against which I was thrown as the door of my car flew open, I think to myself: "How different things would be now if I had put seat belts in my car in 1953."

I remember, too, that I had been a little impatient at that street corner that afternoon of Dec. 31, 1953, and didn't wait as long as I might have to be sure all traffic had passed. There is a signal light at the intersection now—but I still remind myself that it's not enough for a driver to take 50 per cent of the responsibility for avoiding an accident; it's better to take all of it, than to run the risk of another moment like that in which I realized that a car I did not even see had hit mine and sent it spinning.

In my opinion, every car needs seatbelts, strong locks that will not spring open in the impact of a collision, interior design that prevents shocks and injury from sudden halts—and a driver who accepts 100 per cent of the responsibility for the safe operation of his automobile.

Designed Fence Is "Good Neighbor"

If you want a privacy fence in an area where fences are not the rule, choose materials and design carefully so that the completed project is an asset to the neighborhood which cannot be criticized. Use an upper grade of redwood and add design interest by such simple devices as the blocks inserted at intervals in the fence above. This fence was designed by Landscape Architects, Royston, Manamoto & Mayes.

A good idea when building a fence is to start with a modest redwood screen, well within your property line, separating your barbecue area, say, from your zinnia patch. After the local inhabitants have stopped driving out of their way to study this new contribution to the skyline, you might get together with one of your more courageous neighbors and agree on a fence along the line between you.

These first attempts should be planned carefully. Check into the price of a clear grade of redwood; you may find that you can afford it for most of your fence, and it will dress it up considerably (choose an all-heart grade, of course, if there is danger of decay or termite attack). Ask your lumber dealer for design ideas for fences which you can adapt to your own abilities. He has many helpful plans and booklets. Among the most useful is the California Redwood Association's brand new booklet, Redwood Fences, which you can get by sending a dime to Dept. RS-2, California Redwood Association, 617 Montgomery Street, San Francisco, California.

If you proceed thus with care, your first attempts at attaining privacy may lead to a handsome addition to the landscape of the neighborhood—and you may be emulated instead of castigated.

Encouraged by Economy Moves

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., says he is encouraged by President Lyndon B. Johnson's recent economy moves.

McClellan said Johnson has "started well" in running the government.

"I am grateful for his concept of frugality," McClellan said. "I think it is essential that we put our fiscal policies back on track before we get into serious trouble."

McClellan, in Arkansas for the holidays, made the remark in an interview.

Highlights in History of Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Jan. 1, the 1st day of 1964. There are 365 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1863, President Abraham Lincoln issued the Emancipation Proclamation which freed more than three million human beings from slavery.

On this date: In 1776, George Washington raised for the first time the flag of the United Colonies with its 13 alternate red and white stripes and the crosses of St. Andrew and St. George.

In 1913, the U.S. parcel post system began operations. In 1946, the first peace treaty resulting from World War II was signed by the United Kingdom, India and Siam, ending the state of hostilities that began in 1942 when Siam declared war on Britain.

Ten years ago—The Republic of Haiti marked the 150th anniversary of its independence from France. Five years ago — Fulgencia Batista resigned as Cuba's president and fled into exile to the Dominican Republic as Fidel Castro's rebels seized power in Havana.

One year ago — Democratic Sen. Robert Kerr of Oklahoma died in Washington at the age of 66.

Speaker Has a Touch of Virus

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Capitol physician reports that former House Speaker Joe Martin of Massachusetts is recovering from a "touch of virus" that sent him to the hospital by ambulance.

Dr. George W. Calver said Martin, 79, was doing well. Martin's aides said he will stay in the hospital another day or two as a precaution.

Martin was taken by ambulance Sunday to Bethesda Naval Hospital.

People in News Over the World

DUBLIN (AP) — Playwright Brendan Behan was found lying in a Dublin street today, unconscious with head injuries.

He underwent an emergency operation at Meath Hospital, where he was reported in fair condition.

Police were uncertain whether Behan, 40, was the victim of a hit-and-run driver or suffered a fall. He was found in the area where his parents live.

Behan was released from a hospital only Sunday after five days of treatment for diabetes.

NEW YORK (AP)—The Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., a leader in the Negro drive for civil rights, has been named Man of the Year by Time magazine. He's the first Negro to win the award, begun 37 years ago.

The weekly news magazine said King "has made himself the unchallenged voice of the Negro people—and the disquieting conscience of the whites."

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy attended a private Mass Sunday at the Palm Beach home of her father-in-law, Joseph P. Kennedy. Richard Cardinal Cushing, Roman Catholic archbishop of Boston, said the Mass.

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Gene Tunney's son, John V. Tunney, says he plans to seek Democratic nomination to Congress from California's 38th District.

The seat is held by Rep. Pat Minor Martin, a Republican.

The elder Tunney, former world's heavyweight boxing champion, told a party in his honor at Palm Springs: "I want nothing except that you nominate and elect my son to Congress."

John, 29-year-old attorney, lives at Riverside, Calif.

Connally Will Miss Bowl Game

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gov. John Connally announced he would not attend Wednesday's Cotton Bowl football game here between the University of Texas and the Naval Academy. Connally, who was wounded when President Kennedy was assassinated Nov. 22, will be at his old home of Floresville, Tex., over New Year's Day.

Latest Thing in Pets Is a Lizzard

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Puppies and kittens are losing a popularity contest with odd pets such as the 20-inch long Mexican Iguana lizard.

The green lizard, which sells for $3.50, inhabits Mexico and deserts of the Southwestern United States.

A Tennessee Williams play entitled "Night of the Iguana" is being made into a movie starring Richard Burton. Burton's romance with Elizabeth Taylor has given the film considerable publicity.

Little Rock pet store owner Earl Rossner says the iguana is harmless and children like to play with them. The lizard doesn't do anything special, Rossner said. "He just sits there and looks at you."

Iguana owners generally keep their pets in dry aquariums, Rossner said, and occasionally, after staring back at the lizard, people will throw them some shredded carrots, lettuce or celery.

But the iguana is not the only odd pet gaining popularity.

Rossner said sales are increasing on deoderized skunks, horned loads and the coati mundi, a nocturnal member of the raccoon family.

Rossner said skunks sell for $25 and $35 and told how two years ago he received a batch of deoderized skunks—only one wasn't deoderized.

"He ran us out of here in a hurry," Rossner said, "and I didn't know which one was guilty."

Rossner sent all the skunks to a veterinarian who found the culprit.

The coati mundi, which sells for $35.50, is about the size of a raccoon and has a bushy tail. Rossner said they become very tame and affectionate.

Rossner attributes the growth in popularity of the oddball pets to many landlords who will not allow dogs or cats.

People want something to look at besides humans," he said. "They want something alive around."

Among the more common pets, Rossner said poodles and chihuahuas are the most popular of the pet shop dogs. He said a French poodle costs between $100 and $500 while chihuahuas sell from between $50 and $100.

Rossner said poodles and chihuahuas were the biggest sellers during Christmas, followed by tropical fish and then birds.

He said Little Rock's leash law has helped increase the popularity of persian and Siamese cats.

People not only use pets for gifts, Rossner said, they also find gifts for pets.

Practically a complete wardrobe is available for the poodles. Rossner's supply includes dog eye shadow, sun glasses and bathing suits, a $17.50 necklace, $12.50 velvet opera coats, $15.95 cashmere coats and, to top it all, a $75 mink coat.

Stock Prices Can Vary in Many Ways

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The price paid for a stock on the huge over-the-counter market—OTC—can vary in several ways. A dealer may pay a wholesale price for it, while the public pays a retail price, which is the wholesale price plus some additions. And these can be figured more than one way.

If your broker acts as an agent, he buys the stock for you at the best wholesale price he can get at the time by phoning around to other dealers and consulting a wholesale listing he gets every morning. Then he adds on a commission, and this also can vary among brokers.

If your broker acts as a principal, he presumably carries active OTC stocks in inventory and sells you one plus a markup as he determines.

The National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc.—NASD—set up by Congress in 1939 to regulate its more than 4,000 member dealers operating in the OTC, keeps an eye in a general way on both the commissions and the markups charged and also on publishing of OTC retail price ranges for the guidance to the public.

The OTC is much larger, both in number of issues available for trading and in volume of sales, than the nation's formal stock exchanges where only listed stocks can be bought and sold and where listing is subject to strict rules.

But some of the large brokerage firms charge commissions for OTC trading comparable to those prescribed by the nation's formal stock exchanges. Others may charge commissions that range higher than this, especially for the lower-priced stocks, of which there are an abundance among the OTC's some 40,000 issues available, nationally or regionally, for purchase by the public.

A Securities & Exchange Commission study group reporting this year on many phases of the securities market noted the OTC: "Principal markups ordinarily run higher than agency commissions and they are even higher in so called riskless transactions which constitute a substantial proportion of retail transactions."

A deal is dubbed riskless when a dealer sells as a principal to his customer—charging the wholesale price plus his particular markup—but at the same time buys similar stock in the wholesale market. Thus he avoids the risk of actually carrying a large inventory, although he appears to be selling from such an inventory and acting as a principal for profit.

Brokers can get wholesale price lists from a private organization, the National Quotation Bureau. It collects most of the quotations by telephone as dealers report at what prices they'll buy or sell specified issues—known as bid and asked.

The NASD says that most of its dealer members are ethical and abide by its standards for a fair markup or commission.

It also says it's only fair to the smaller dealers that the wholesale, or insider, bid and asked list be kept private, while the retail price list is made public. The argument: the small dealer couldn't afford the lower markup a big firm might charge and such publicity could force the smaller ones to the wall.

Critics of the NASD system contend that the public should

Johnson in a Visit to the Big City

By FRANK CORMIER

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson, after spending six days as a country gentleman, devoted six hours to visiting the big city.

Apparently inspired by the sight of so many voters, he began popping his head into beauty parlors, real estate offices and jewelry stores in order to pump hands and flash his ready smile.

The President and First Lady flew 65 miles from their ranch to Austin by helicopter Monday afternoon to attend funeral services for Nellie Miller, widow of Austin's former Mayor Tom Miller.

Since Johnson was already committed to take part in the evening dedication of an Austin synagogue, he decided to use the time in between to make a quick walking tour of the downtown area, conduct some official business from a waiting hotel suite, and invite 30 or 40 friends to a hastily arranged cocktail party.

At the Commodore Perry hotel, Johnson went to the 12th floor to greet 30 or 40 friends summoned on short notice. Nearly two hours later, he set off in a closed car for the new synagogue of congregation Agudas Achim.

A few blocks along the way, Johnson's car stopped without warning. Waiting on the curb stood his wife, Lady Bird. She joined the President.

At the synagogue, Jim Novy, chairman of the building committee, gave an account of Johnson's contributions to the welfare of Jews, dating back to the President's efforts to gain entry for refugees from Hitler Germany.

know at what price an issue actually was traded.

The argument could reach Congress if it takes up recommendations for new regulations for the securities markets in general.
